

Text Structure:
Noticing Stories within Stories
(Fiction)

Name: _____

Title: _____

Author: _____

Note: Sometimes writers tell the main story but also include some other stories that are connected in some way. These stories are not as important as the main story, but they give us information that helps us understand the characters or the writer’s message. Make a statement describing the main story at the top of the circle. Draw smaller circles inside to make statements describing the “smaller” stories in the book.